“ Lisa - know that he is with all those loved ones that have gone before and that he most certainly earned his wings while here on this earth. Your family and friends will be there for you now and always. We all have big shoulders to help get you through this tragic loss and remember Willie is watching over you always.

To his brother, sister, children, and grandchildren - my deepest sympathies through this time of sorrow. Believe in your heart that he is among the angels now. He will be greatly missed.
