Some of my most fondest memories as a child include hanging out with Uncle Billy, Aunt Debbie and all the other Huttons at his his house and all of us cousins playing together as children. “ This is my Uncle Billy. My memories of him are all good. Huge laugh, warm and friendly smile and always outgoing. He loved his kids more than the world and his grandchildren were his crown jewels. He was an amazing grandad and I loved watching him with his little "fuzzy". His love for those kids will never die. Praise God he has no pain today. Cancer did not take away his love. I will miss him coming over... "Hey Melissa! Where's the roofer"! Hope he is playing poker with my Uncle P in Heaven today.

“ I work in Bills doctors office and had grown very fond of him. Bill was a very special man that thought the world of his children and grandchildren. He would come into the office and if I was there he wouldn't let anyone else check him in so he could tell me the latest about the grandkids. (Grandchildren was something we had in common as well as age.) He would always have a smile and just beam when he spoke of them. He told me that he bought a dozen roses for his granddaughters first birthday because she was now a little lady. He was just a most gentle and kind man. I will definitely miss him. I want to send the family my most sincere and deepest sympathies. May God be with you as you struggle with the loss of this very special man, father and grandfather.

So long Bill, till we meet again!

“ Remembering the poker nights at your house and out on our deck. I remember when Bill and Stan used to take the trips to UVA and come back with a big grin on their faces swearing they didn't have any ICE CREAM on the way back. I didn't buy it for a minute. You will be missed dearly, sending prayers to all the family. Love you all ,

“ Farewell Billy, rest in peace. Thank you for creating with me our two wonderful children and our three incredible grand babies. I promise to tell and show them their Grand Dad and how much you love and will always watch over them. Through out their lives they will each know how much you would have liked to be a part of their lives. Each one of them are a part of you and through them you will continue to shine. I will truly miss you and the good times we shared. God bless you, Debby
